Mark Your Calendars: ASC Announces Spring 2007 Convention

BETHESDA, MD (November 6, 2006) – The Adhesive and Sealant Council (ASC) is pleased to announce its Spring 2007 Convention and Exposition to be held in Savannah, GA, from April 15-18, 2007. The Spring Convention will feature a dynamic two-and-a-half day conference program, networking events and the adhesive and sealant industry's largest exposition of raw materials, equipment and service providers.

Educational sessions have either a business or technical focus and a sample of presentation topics include regulatory issues, raw materials, additives, reactives, structural adhesives and sealants, global markets and much more. The program also features a special "hot topics" session addressing the latest critical issues affecting the industry.

Personnel from all levels and departments of large and small adhesive and sealant manufacturer and supplier companies are encouraged to attend the convention. Academicians and end-users are also invited to attend at discounted rates.

ASC Spring 2007 Convention and Expo details can be found at ASC's website at <http://www.ascouncil.org/industry/conventions/>.

About ASC

The Adhesive and Sealant Council (ASC) is a North American trade association dedicated to representing the adhesive and sealant industry. Incorporated in 1958, ASC is bound by the collective efforts of its members, and strives to improve the industry-operating environment and strengthen its member companies. Today, ASC members account for more than 75% of the aggregate industry revenues, exceeding some $6 billion annually. The Council is comprised of 125 adhesives and sealants manufacturers, raw material and equipment suppliers, and industry consultants.
